Flatbush People Will Get Chance to Protest at Hearing To-day.

WOODIN'S STAND UPHELD

Coal Journal Insists Straus's Plan to Use $10,000,000 Fund Is Impracticable.

Complaint was made to the Fuel Administration that since last Sunday 155 loaded cars, containing more than 6,000 tons of athracite and bituminous coal, had been standing on sidings of the Long Island Railroad's Manhattan Beach division between Avenue H. Flatbush, and Sheepshead Ray. During that time whole districts of Brooklyn and Queens had been clamoring for fuel.

Officers of the Long Island Railroad told the Fuel Administrator that lack of available locomoutives prevented their moving this coal to distributing agencies. One locomoutive was detailed to the job yesterday. Late in the afternoon it had moved fifty carloads to Long Island City.

Much dissatisfaction has prevailed in Flatbush and other sections of Brooklyn. Some of it probably will be voiced in the Flatbush court this morning, where William H. Woodh, State Administrator, and Samuel J. Prevented bit dequal for fuel.

J. J. Townsend of 299 Broadway sat as referee in the hearing on an involuntary petition in bankruptcy filed against the Tidewater Fuel Corporation of 296 Madison avenue. H. F. Willfuehr, manager of the corporation, said it had received about $20,000 in deposits from customers upon coal not delivered, of which $5,000 had been refunded and $2,009 proved to be in bad chocks. He said they had taken from $1 to $5 at ion on deposits on orders, but had no money in bank that he knew of. They had taken no orders but had no money in bank that he knew of. They had taken no orders since November 7, when the Fuel Administration stopped them. Willfuehr said he had put into the venture $1,000 at home?" asked the attorney for the creditors.

"Huh!" retorted Willfuehr, "I used to walk about with $50,000 or $60,000 in my pocker a year ago when I was prospectous. This $1,000 I got from my mother."

Commenting editorially yesterday on State Senstor Nathan Straus's appeal to Gov. Miller to launch the State in the coal business, the Coal Trade Journal and:

"If Mr. Woodin were to take the $19,000,000 mentioned in the law, he could not buy more than the percentage of the total output of coal alloited to New York. With the regularly established dealers clamoring for tonnage from their connections of long standing, it is doubtful if Mr. Woodin could hay any considerable quantity of standard coal. Ho would not facilitate distribution, but would impede it by substituting an inexpert organization for the organizations that now exist. Mr. Woodin knows this and has not attempted it. For this, Senator Straus to the contrary notwithstanding, the people of New York should be grateful."

MANY LACKING COAL CHILDREN WILL PLAY SANTA FOUR OF WHITMAN TO 10,000 LESS FORTUNATE

Every Public School in City Helps to Prepare Huge Boxes of Presents Made by Pupils for Little Wards of Junior Red Cross.

Ten thousand children, who haven't much to be cheerful about, so far as their outlook on life is concerned, will be rendered extra happy on Christmas by the receipt of presents made by boys and girls in the public schools. Yesterday the last of the painted reg dolls, wooden animals, toys, candy, books and pictures were nailed up in boxes ready for distribution from the head-quarters of the Junior Red Cross, isl Livingston street, Brooklyn, to various hospitals and homes.

Nearly every public school in the city has helped to get the huge Christmas boxes ready. Several months ago the special health classes in the five boroughs, including the cardiac, anaemic, crippied and ungraded pupils, began to think about girls and boys who are even less fortunate than themselves, and how the hospital children could be made happier. So they worked a little every day cutting out wooden animals, painting them in lifelike colors and patterns; dressing dolls, making fig and raisin men and testing the very finest fudge recipes. The result is that they have the largest assortment of presents ever distributed by the Board

Christmas Memory

The Christmas Spirit is ringing the door bell of every heart, as a signal that it is the time to play the "Just Be Glad" game of Pollyanna, who began to play it as a little child and played it through the years of beautiful womanhood without ever growing old.

There is truly such a thing as keeping the heart unwrinkled. It is by being hopeful, cheerful, kindly, reverent and thankful.

The small boy who described memory as "the thing you forget with" was only a small boy. A full-grown man knows how to remember and whom to remember.
